Men's 50c Neckwear is 44 cents Here.

The price being six cents less than prevailing attracts the wives and mothers. The superior quality and variety attract the husbands and sons—and thus more 50c Neckwear is sold at the Palais Royal than at any other two establishments in town. "Opening" of spring styles tomorrow—at 44 cents. Closing out of old styles—at 10 cents.

The Palais Royal.

Ladies' Lunch.

From 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. the hours. Fourth floor of Palais Royal the place. Armour's demonstration the occasion.

Valentines.

It's the fashion to send Valentines this year, and it's the custom to select them at this G. St. corner.

Tomorrow will be a Saturday of unusual opportunities—because the advertised Friday bargains shall be continued tomorrow; because the Mayer Underwear Stock is to be cleared out; because of the "Opening" of New Spring Costumes at special introductory prices; because of bargains for children; because of other reasons told of below.

The Mayer Stock.

We will not state the number of Muslin and Cambric Undergarments that have already been distributed this week, because we should invite disbelief. An idea is gleaned when we tell you that a merchant's entire stock has been nearly disposed of, and that by tomorrow night we reckon on every piece being sold.

The remaining garments in four lots.

Lot 1.	Lot 2.	Lot 3.	Lot 4.
25c.	39c.	47c.	67c.

Needless to repeat descriptions of the Mayer stock—everybody has read of or heard of this week's Underwear sale at the Palais Royal. Enough to say that the remaining garments will be on first floor tables tomorrow at 25c, 39c, 47c and 67c for choice.

Regular Stock on Third Floor.

Judge the stock by the Skirts we can show and you'll say the Palais Royal is headquarters for Fine Underwear.

White Skirts.

Muslin, Cambric and Lawn Skirts. Prices range from 98c to $18 each. The width of the garment and the quantity of lace embroidery trimming determines the price. For instance—The lesser priced are only 4 1/2 yards wide, those at $3.98 and up are 6 yards wide, the most expensive smothered with rich laces.

Styles.	Prices.	Styles.	Prices.
1.	98c.	3.	$3.98
2.	1.15	4.	6.98
3.	1.35	5.	7.98
4.	1.55	6.	8.98
5.	1.75	7.	9.98
6.	1.95	8.	10.98
7.	2.15	9.	11.98
8.	2.35	10.	12.98
9.	2.55	11.	13.98
10.	2.75	12.	14.98
11.	2.95	13.	15.98
12.	3.15	14.	16.98
13.	3.35	15.	17.98
14.	3.55	16.	18.00

Thus we have sixty-four different styles of White Skirts ranging in price from 98c to $18—the largest and most varied stock in Washington.

The stock of Gowns and other Undergarments is equally superior. Bridal Trousseaus from $10 to $250.

Umbrellas for beauty and duty--

--AT--

PERRY'S.

So much of this uncertain weather only emphasizes the satisfaction of owning a creditable looking—as well as a creditable wearing—Umbrella. All through impulsive March—weeping April—and fickle May—you and an Umbrella must keep close company. Handsomely mounted ones don't cost any more than plainer finishings. And the quality of the covering does not pay for the effectiveness.

We keep our Umbrella assortment up to the high-water mark of variety all the time. As fast as the new things come along they are shown here. Our prices stand for nothing but value. What you pay measures the service the Umbrella will give.

We are sure we can save you money—and give you greater satisfaction at the same time. We should like to try. The experiment is at our risk—we can confidently guarantee our Umbrellas.

LAMP LORE.

A cheap "motion store" Lamp is pretty apt to give a poor light. But the chances are it won't last any time at all with burn miserably and be a constant source of annoyance. No sensible housewife wants this sort of thing—she won't give it home room. We have been careful to avoid the poor, cheap sort. You'll find ours the very best here. Our prices are moderate—not near as much as you'd naturally expect to pay.

ALEXANDRIA AFFAIRS

Excellent Work of the John Hay Industrial School.

Improved Accommodation on the River Route—Local Notes of General and Special Interest.

Evening Star Bureau,
No. 121 North Washington street,
Telephone No. 116.

Alexandria, Va., February 12, 1897.

But few people know of the excellent work that is being done among the colored people in this city by the John Hay Industrial School, which is preparing colored boys and girls for the practical affairs of life. This school was opened in the winter of 1894, for the purpose of affording to colored boys and girls a primary, normal and industrial education. The school was first known as the Alexandria Normal and Industrial School. It opened with thirty pupils, and closed in the spring of 1895 with ninety pupils on the rolls. When the fall session of 1896 opened there were seventy-five applicants for admission. The school is taught in a rented building, and is much handicapped for want of space, worthy pupils having to be turned away. The name was changed this session to John Hay Industrial School, and the industrial department was pushed to the front, with the normal as a secondary department. The following board of trustees has been chosen: Rev. R. B. Robinson, H. Williams, J. C. House, J. Herndon, H. Magnus L. Robinson. Rev. R. B. Robinson was elected president, with Magnus L. Robinson secretary and active steps are being taken to secure funds to erect a suitable building on the property which they have recently purchased for the use of the school. There are now in successful operation a broom department and a printing department, while sewing, darning and cooking are being taught. The clergy and leading citizens of Alexandria are highly, and the superintendent of public schools has recommended it for help.

Improved Accommodations.

It is learned on very good authority that arrangements are now being perfected for a complete and rapid service between this city and Washington by the river route. Handsome new steamers, which will be able to make the trip in twenty minutes, with a 15-cent round-trip fare and special commutation rates for regulars, is part of the program that will especially interest Alexandrians who are engaged in business in Washington, and compelled to be there every day.

Alexandria Council, Jr. O. U. A. M.
